

Microscopic Crystal Tests

Brodo (1984) described a method for observing the formation of crystals in the epihymenium in response to Pd...(see article for complete description).